- It is powerful in reading the configurations and processes in SAP thus enabling users to create dynamic forms that can perform differently based on specified conditions.
- Form fields are dynamic and easily customizable based on specific scenarios – Forms for each specific business unit and each specific activity within the business unit are developed within minutes.
- It makes it easy to identify errors in the process using the “error log” function. When mistakes are made in the process of developing a form, FormsEz identifies the error and pinpoints the particular action that needs correction.
- Creating new forms or making changes to existing forms is done with a simple “check and click” method and in less than 15 minutes. You require neither an IT person nor wait for months to develop new forms.
